Cover photograph Geological maps show the nature, extent and relative stratigraphical age of the different rocks within a district. The maps are based primarily on surface information, but may include information from boreholes and investigations into the geochemistry, geophysics, mineralogy, sedimentology and biostratigraphy of the district. A clinometer is an instrument used for measuring angles of slope (or tilt), elevation or depression of an object with respect to gravity. Clinometers are used for fieldwork and geological mapping projects. BGS Photograph from: A short guide to geological maps – what they are and what they show.

Introducing Geology

This section contains non-specialist books and guides on different themes in geology, such as fossils, regional geology, mining and minerals. Field equipment and educational items on a geological theme are also available. Earthwise Publications cover a range of topics, from the influence of geology on the taste of a good malt whisky to the causes and effects of earthquakes, and are written for amateur geologists, students, walkers, or people who simply want to know more about the geology of Britain. These books and guides offer well-illustrated geological information, presented in a clear concise manner.

Climate through time; our rocks reveal the story of change. Poster size A0 (1189 × 841 mm) ISBN 9780751835892 £1 + standard postal rates (see page 85).

Earth's climate is changing rapidly in ways which could have serious consequences for humanity. However, the climate has varied throughout the billions of years of Earth's geological history. Recorded in the rocks is evidence for past climates and the extremes which have been linked to mass extinctions. One principle of geology is 'the present is the key to the past'. As geological understanding improves, so we are better able to predict future change — the past is the key to the future. This poster shows the evidence for past climate change, through looking at the rocks which form Britain and Ireland, and describing the climates under which these rocks were formed.

Exploring the landscape of Charnwood Forest and Mountsorrel. Ambrose, K. 2007. ISBN 9780852725702 £12 A5 52-page book with colour illustrations and 1:25 000 scale map.

Leicestershire's Charnwood Forest is the area where the oldest fossils in Britain were found – they are almost 600 million years old. The geology of the area is explored in this book and map pack, which describes ten walks in Charnwood Forest, explaining the geology in clear, simple terms. The book is full colour and illustrated with photographs and diagrams. The accompanying map shows the different rock types to be found in the area.

Exploring the landscape of Assynt. Pickett, E. 2004. ISBN 9780852724712 £12

A5 55-page book with colour illustrations and 1:50 000 scale map.

The wild landscape of Assynt is one of Britain's most beautiful areas; home to Britain's oldest rocks — the basement rock of the area, the Lewisian Gneiss, was formed an amazing 3000 million years ago. This book and map pack describes eight walks around Assynt, ranging in difficulty from easy to challenging. These are described in detail and illustrated with photographs and paintings. The fold-out colour map shows the different rock types that make up the area; walks and sites of interest are also marked. See also: Assynt Special Sheet 1:50 000 geological map.

Exploring the landscape of Western Mendip. Farrant, A R. 2007. ISBN 9780852725764 £12 76-page A5 book plus folded 1:25 000 geology map.

Exploring the landscape of Eastern Mendip. Farrant, A R. 2007. ISBN 9780852725757 £12 68-page A5 book plus folded 1:25 000 geology map.

These two book and map packs each contain a full-colour guidebook, and a geological map (size 830 x 1175 mm) showing the rocks to be seen in the area. The packs offer a complete background to the geology, landscape and natural history of the area, coupled with more detailed descriptions of interesting places to visit.

Exploring the landscape of the National Forest. Ambrose, K. 2012. ISBN 9780852726877 £6.95

A5, 106 page booklet with colour illustrations and 1:25 000 scale map (830 x 1030 mm). This map and booklet show you how the landscapes and natural resources of the National Forest in the East Midlands have influenced human development from very early archaeological times through to the Industrial Revolution and the present day. Large areas were modified by activities such as mining that relied on the rich geological reserves, including coal, gypsum and hard-rock aggregates. The geology is explored in this pack which describes 10 walks in the National Forest explaining the geology in clear, simple terms.

Exploring the landscape of Forest Fawr, a global geopark (Bedrock and landscape). Humpage, A J. 2014. £6.95 Flat: ISBN 9780751837872 or Folded 9780751837841 1:50 000 map — Bilingual text.

This map provides an introduction to the geology of the Geopark which extends across the Black Mountains and the Brecon Beacons including an overview map of the bedrock geology, a simplified unconsolidated superficial deposits map, a key to the major geological events and a schematic interpretation of how the rocks extend underground.

Geology of Charnwood (DVD). Order Code 600000382X £4.90 (inc VAT)

This 84 minute DVD is aimed at A-Level students and interested amateurs. It gives a more detailed account of the geology than can be found in Exploring the landscape of Charnwood Forest and Mountsorrel.

Ancient Frontiers. Pickett, E. 2006 0852725418 £8

64 pages, colour paperback with fold-out cover. This book describes the dramatic landscape and scenery around Hadrian's Wall in Northumberland National Park. It explores the geology to explain why the countryside looks why it does; by reading the rocks, we can unravel the past events which created the landscape, and find out how it has influenced wildlife and people. Hadrian's Wall was an important political frontier zone almost 2000 years ago. This exploration of the landscape shows that this was a major frontier zone some 500 million years before Hadrian built his Wall.

A geological walk around Cliffe Hill Quarry. McGrath, A. 2004. 0852724853 £2

A5 32-page paperback with photographs, maps and illustrations. This book describes walks around Cliffe Hill Quarry and Billa Barra Hill in Markfield in Leicestershire. Aimed at the interested amateur, this pocket-sized guide will be an informative and friendly companion on these walks.

Earthquakes – our trembling planet. van Rose, S. 1997. 0852722877 £6.50 Earthquakes are in the news, even in Britain. This book helps those who want to get to grips with all aspects of the subject in layman's terms.

Yorkshire Rock – a journey through time. Bell, R. 1996. 0852722699 £6.50 Yorkshire is England's largest county. Everywhere in Yorkshire there are clues to vanished worlds in the rocks, fossils and landforms. This book is an accessible guide to the geology of the county.

Fossils – the story of life. Rigby, S. 1997. 0852722842 £6.50

This book focuses on British fossils and the story of life on our islands. Includes details of the great fossil collections of Britain. Over 100 colour photos and illustrations.

Groundwater – our hidden asset. Downing, R A. 1998. 0852723040 £6.50

Many areas of the UK are dependent on groundwater for their water supplies. This book explains clearly how and where groundwater occurs, how it is used and how it is at risk.

West Cornwall: a landscape for leisure. Goode, A J J. 1996. 0852722532 £3

This guidebook describes the geology, scenery, and mining history of West Cornwall and illustrates how these are linked to aspects of the natural and social history of the region.

Isle of Man: foundations of a landscape. Pickett, E. 2001. 0852723962 £5

The rocks and landscape of the lsle of Man tell a fascinating story which began hundreds of millions of years ago. This book unravels the lsle's complex geological history, explores the evolution of the landscape and how it has been used and changed by the Many people.

Lead Mining landscapes of the North Pennines. Forbes, I. 2003. 0902178202 £9.95

The North Pennines, which is an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and a European Geopark, may be forgiven for assuming that it is a truly natural landscape. Undeniably beautiful though it is, this is far from a wholly natural landscape and is in no sense the 'wilderness' it has been claimed. This book explores the wealth of factors, natural and human, particularly in relation to the lead mining industry, which have shaped the unique area we see today. Published by Durham County Council.

Guidecards

These concise guidecards provide a wealth of information on the geology of many popular tourist areas of England and Wales - from fossiliferous heritage coasts to historic buildings of London. Holiday Geology Guides provide an illustrated description of the district, while Holiday Geology Maps show the geology superimposed on the topography. Fossil Focus cards describe the common fossils which can be found in the UK. All guidecards feature colour diagrams and photographs and are produced as folded A3 laminated cards. Guidecards for the North York Moors and the Lake District maps illustrate the geology draped over a 3D satellite image of the landscape.

Rocks and fossils of the Falkland Islands. Stone, P, Aldiss, D and Edwards, E. 2005. 0852724942. £9 The Falkland Islands have a remarkable geological history: African origins going back 1000 million years, a 400 million-year-old shoreline teeming with marine life, and ice age 300 million years ago succeeded by the spread of forests, and emigration to the New World as the Atlantic Ocean opened a mere 150 million years ago – with rotation so that north became south in the process. This colourful account illustrates the rocks and fossils, shows how their features reveal the details of those ancient environments, and explains how more recent climate changes has wrought the rocks into the unique Falkland landscape.

Posters

The Lake District and surrounds. 1992. Flat: 0751823635. £5 (inc VAT) A digitally enhanced satellite map of the Lake District obtained from the Landsat 5 satellite at an altitude of 700 km. 1:200 000 scale. Size: 900 × 650 mm.

Wales from space/Cymru o'r gofod. 1995. Flat: 075189804X. £5 (inc VAT)

A full colour mosaic of five satellite scenes of Wales and the Welsh Borderland taken from an altitude of 700 km. 1:350 000 scale. Size: 900×650 mm.

British Dinosaur posters (Size: 61 cm x 91.5 cm) £3.95 each or 2 for £6 Jurassic and Triassic dinosaurs (ISBN: 978085272811) Cretaceous dinosaurs (ISBN: 9780852728604)

Both designed to show a diverse set of creatures from our distant past, with locations of remains, information on scale and diet as well as a guide and explanation of the dinosaur's name.

Geological Survey of Northern Ireland (GSNI)

Between rocks and hard places, discovering Ireland's northern landscapes. Lyle, P. 2010. 9780337095870 £16.99

This is the story the spectacular landscape in the northern part of Ireland, written for a wide audience. This fully illustrated book explains how the rocks contain the 'secrets of distant events' and how the landscape—and natural resources—were formed. 105 pages. 270 x 300 mm.

The geology of Northern Ireland – our natural foundation. Mitchell, W I. 2004. 0852724543 £20

This guide to Northern Ireland supersedes the earlier Regional Geology Guide and provides a completely new and comprehensive account of the geology of the region. Northern Ireland represents a small area of the Earth's surface, but contains a huge variety of rock types, representing many different geological ages which are reflected in the sheer variety of landscape.

This book presents detailed, comprehensive information in a user-friendly way: sites of national or international significance are described and illustrated through photographs and large-scale maps. Published by the Geological Survey of Northern Ireland; 298pp plus index, full colour. 260 x 180 mm.

The last glacial termination in Northern Ireland. McCabe, A M, and Dunlop, P. 2006. 9780852725290 £12 This book chronicles the detailed sequence of events caused by the last great ice sheet in the Irish Sea Basin that affected Ireland, Scotland England and Wales. Published by the Geological Survey of Northern Ireland. Fully illustrated with coloured maps, diagrams and photographs. 93 pages. 260 x 180 mm.

The Classic Geology of the North of Ireland. Mitchell, W I, Cooper, M R, McKeever, P J, and McConnell, B. 2010. 9780852726723 £12 This beautifully illustrated field guide is aimed toward individuals and groups with experience of Earth Science, providing 6 one day itineries spanning the north of Ireland. It is ideal for University of society use.

Geological maps and geological memoirs are listed elsewhere in this catalogue.

Landscapes from Stone (Ireland, North)

Books and Guidecards published by the Geological Survey of Northern Ireland in association with the Geological Survey of Ireland.

A story through time: the formation of the scenic landscapes of Ireland (north). McKeever, P J. 1999. 1899702237 £7 A comprehensive account of the geology and evolution of the landscape of the north of Ireland. Fully illiustrated. 100 pages; 200 x 210 mm.

Walkers and Explorers' Guides

These 'popular' publications are aimed at walkers and amateur geologists. The walkers guides, each featuring local walks, comprise a pack of 14 or more laminated cards (250 x 97 mm). The explorers' guides are 8-page A5 'fold-out' guidecards.

Historical Maps and Books

From time to time the BGS produces facsimiles, reprints and new compilations of interesting or historically significant geological maps and books. Facsimiles may be produced of originals held in the BGS Library or in other important archival collections. In addition to the following printed publications, 'print-on-demand' copies of early 'One-inch' Geological Maps and Memoirs can be prepared to special order (contact the Sales Desk for details).

Geological Map of London and its Environs R W Mylne, 1871. Flat: 9780751835748. £5.95

The first comprehensive geological map of London and its environs was published in 1856 by Robert William Mylne. He was part of a celebrated dynasty of Scottish architects, water engineers and surveyors, and the son of William Chadwell Mylne, who was Engineer to the New River Company. Mylne himself had created a large practice as a consulting water engineer, and in 1856 published his 'Map of the geology and contours of London and its Environs' at a scale of 4 miles to the inch. This was followed by a smaller version entitled 'Geological map of London and its Environs' at a scale of 1:45 000.

This was an important map in its day: it was first published in 1856 in a period of great change in the understanding of public health and disease in cities, and the need for major public works such as improved water supply and sewerage systems. A detailed geological map was essential. This 1871 edition of the map has now been reproduced by the BGS, at its original size. It gives a glimpse into the fascinating history of urban development in London in the mid 19th century — a wonderful map for any London historian.

Map size: 70 x 48 cm.

William Smith

William Smith, 1769–1839, spent much of his life surveying land for drainage canals, building stones and mines in many parts of England. He acquired detailed knowledge of the geological features, recognising that fossils were of crucial importance in the identification of strata. Smith's Geological Atlas of England and Wales, published between 1819 and 1824, consisted of maps of 21 English counties. These maps represented a significant advance in Smith's geological knowledge and were very fine productions from both an artistic and scientific point of view. There is more information about William Smith on the BGS website: www.bgs.ac.uk

The William Smith Map of 1815. Flat: 0751834173£9.95Now also available for the first time in folded formatISBN 9780751837889£12.95

"A Delineation of the Strata of England and Wales with part of Scotland; exhibiting the collieries and mines, the marshes and fen lands originally overflowed by the sea, and the Varieties of Soil according to the variations in the Substrata, illustrated by the most Descriptive Names by W Smith."

This is a reproduction of William Smith's famous 1815 geological map of 'England and Wales with part of Scotland' (series 53, issued between 2nd Nov 1815 and 17th Dec 1815). Smith's 1815 map was the subject of Simon Winchester's book: The Map that Changed the World.

Because of the limited size of early 19th century printing presses this map was originally printed in fifteen parts (each folded into six 'panels'). At its original scale of five miles to the inch, the complete map would have been eight feet high by six feet wide; however, it was never published as a single sheet.

To reproduce the entire map, original panels held in the BGS Library were digitally scanned, joined together and colour-matched to the originals.

For convenience the map is reproduced at half-scale (i.e. ten miles to the inch). Map size: 133 high \times 93 cm wide.

Special Memoir – A memoir to the map delineation of the strata of England and Wales, with part of Scotland. This is a reproduction of William Smith's famous memoir that accompanies the 1815 geological map of 'England and Wales, with part of Scotland' (series 53. issued between 2 November 1815 and 17 December 1815). 2015. ISBN 9780852728451 £12.95

William Smith's 1820 Geological Map of England and Wales.Flat Order Code WS1820£5.95

"A New Geological Map of England and Wales, with the Inland Navigations; Exhibiting the Districts of Coal and other Sites of Mineral Tonnage. By W Smith, Engineer."

This map has been digitally re-created from an original of William Smith's 1820 map held in the BGS Library. The original was in sections, mounted on linen and folded. This reproduction has had most of the section-marks and folds removed. It is the same size as the original, and colour-matched.

Map size: 65 cm high \times 63.5 cm wide.

Bicentennial geological map of Britain 1815–2015 ISBN 9780751837902 folded, ISBN 9780751837919 flat £12.95

This map commemorates the two-hundredth anniversary of the publication of the first geological map of Britain, by William Smith (1769–1839). It depicts modern geological bedrock data in the style of Smith's early nineteenth century cartography.

The main focus of Smith's work was to apply his observations and ideas to the everyday needs of the canal builders, quarry- and mine-owners, landowners and agriculturists who were underpinning the Industrial Revolution.

As more attributes are added by the British Geological Survey to geological map data, William Smith's conviction that geological mapping is of vital importance at many levels and in many areas of the nation's society, science, and industry is as true today as it was two centuries ago, when he conceived his original geological map.

The methods involved in map production have developed and, especially with digital data, the method of map delivery has altered radically, but the fundamental importance of providing accurate geological map data to today's industries is as vital now as it was in Smith's time.

MacCulloch's 1840 Geological map of Scotland Flat: ISBN 9780751835007 £10

In 1814, John MacCulloch was appointed to begin a geological investigation along meridian lines in Scotland, and to find a more suitable mountain than Schiehallion to calculate the Earth's mean density. He used this opportunity to geologically survey Scotland, and in 1821 he applied to the Board of Ordnance with a proposal to publish his map. Nothing came of it, despite his threats to hang or shoot himself if he didn't get his own way. MacCulloch completed his survey in 1832, and his geological map was eventually published in 1836, a year after the author died in a carriage accident on his honeymoon, aged nearly 62.

This is a reproduction of the third issue of MacCulloch's map from 1840. The original map was published in four hand-coloured sections, each 34 inches by 27 inches, at a scale of four miles to the inch. For this reproduction, we scanned the original map sheets and joined them digitally, removing the section lines. Pencil sketches and annotations found on the original remain on the reproduction. It is colour-matched to the original and reproduced at half-scale, eight miles to the inch.

Map size: 74 x 93 cm.

Murchison's Wanderings in Russia. Collie, M. and Diemer, J. 2004. 0852724675 now £30 (was £40)

Roderick Murchison was an important figure in geology, establishing the Devonian, Carboniferous and Permian systems of geological time as part of his lifetime's work. He produced the first geological map of Russia in 1845. During his Russian field seasons he kept two sets of journals: scientific journals where he recorded his findings, and private journals where he recorded his thoughts and reflections on his travels. He wanted to publish these private journals on his return as a 19th century popular science book, to make his discoveries accessible to the public although he never did: Murchison's Wanderings in Russia is that book.

Gold-blocked hardback, containing a full-colour life-size reproduction of Murchison's geological map of Russia and colour reproductions of the cross-sections; 474 pages. The book is also lavishly illustrated with etchings of Murchison's field-sketches.

A geological map & memoir of England & Wales 1819 by G B Greenough

This map accompanying and memoir might accurately be called the 'Geological Society's map', but it is more commonly known as 'Greenough's map' after George Bellas Greenough (1778–1855), a founding member of the Geological Society and its first President, who was the overseer and financial underwriter of the map. The map was published on May 1st 1820, although the date engraved on the map is 1st November 1819. It is at a scale of six miles to the inch. BGS has created a full size reproduction of the G B Greenough first edition Geological map of England and Wales from map no.189 reproduced from an original held in the British Geological Survey Library. There are two options available for the first time.

Small Scale Geological Maps

These maps offer whole-country coverage of the United Kingdom (onshore and offshore) over a range of geological themes. For an explanation of geological map classifications (Solid, Drift, Bedrock, etc) see page 25. Maps dealing with more technical aspects of UK geology (e.g. geophysical and hydrogeological maps) are listed in the Specialist Publications section, beginning on page 66.

Bedrock Geology Maps

NEW - 1:625 000 combined North and South bedrock map of the UK

This map is a combination of the individually published North and South sheets (see overleaf), which for the first for the first time has been produced as one sheet. Flat only. ISBN 9780751837834. Sorry only available in the UK. Map size 1850 x 1132 mm £85

The material we used is a 200 gsm matte poster paper. It should be kept away from damp areas and probably best to store it in the delivery tube. For displaying we recommend poster bars top & bottom or framing the print. You could use self adhesive tapes on the corners or even a 'blu-tac' type product but both of these depend on how suitable the wall surface is and damage may occur if you try to remove the map. Basically treat it as you would any other kind of poster type product. The inks are both water fast and fade resistant so no problem with direct sunlight etc.

1:625 000 Bedrock Geology Maps of the UK (North & South)

For anyone – student, amateur, professional – who wants a general understanding of the geology of the UK, these maps and books are ideal. The maps illustrate the bedrock geology, while the accompanying books describe what the maps show. The maps are at an approximate scale of ten miles to one inch and illustrate the bedrock geology of the UK in two map sheets: North and South. The maps also show illustrative cross-sections to aid understanding of the regional structural geology. Available folded or flat for wall-mounting. The two maps can be overlapped when mounted.

The books and maps are available separately, or as a walleted pack containing the folded map and its accompanying book at a discounted price.

Bedrock geology map of the United Kingdom and Ireland 1:1 250 000k

This 'poster map' published in May 2017 is aimed to provide an overview of the geology of the UK and Ireland at a relatively coarse scale using current BGS and GSI data. The map shows the bedrock (solid) geology of Britain and Ireland excluding the Channel Islands, generalised from larger-scale maps and overlaid on shaded relief. The map is intended as a teaching resource, suitable for a wide range of educational purposes and was designed in collaboration with the Earth Science Teachers Association and the Geographical Association.

Stratigraphical Charts of the United Kingdom

These charts illustrate the age, type and duration of stratigraphical units, and gaps in the depositional record can also be seen. Sedimentary and volcanic successions are displayed with the main intrusive phases and tectonic events. The charts are designed for students and anyone seeking an understanding of the evolution of the environments in which the rocks of Britain were formed. Size of each chart 111 × 85 cm approx. Flat. Quaternary Geology Maps

1:625 000 Quaternary Geology Maps of the UK (North & South)

These maps (at an approximate scale of ten miles to the inch) complement the 1:625 000 scale Bedrock Geology Maps of the UK (North & South). They show the broad extent of major onshore Quaternary ('drift') deposits and are overprinted to indicate localities where industrial sand and gravel has been of particular importance. Solid geology and offshore geology are not shown.

These maps show the solid geology and the sea-bed sediments of the UK Continental Shelf or selected offshore areas. For maps at a larger scale (1:250 000) see page 62.

1:1 000 000 Offshore Solid Geology (North & South)

These maps show the onshore and offshore geology for the UK at 1:1 000 000 scale. Bedrock (solid) geology of the land areas of the UK and Ireland and the surrounding continental shelf areas is shown. Quaternary geology (superficial deposits) is not shown. The maps are available singly or as a pair at a discounted price.

Geophysical Maps

Gravity and magnetic anomaly maps illustrate the small departures from expected values of the Earth's gravity and magnetic fields caused by variations in the density and magnetisation of the rocks within the crust. They give an overview of the UK landmass and continental shelf, for example depth of sedimentary basins for oil and gas exploration.

The maps listed here are 1:625 000 scale, the same as our main-series UK North and South Bedrock maps. For more detailed geophysical maps at larger scales, please see the 'Geophysical Publications' section on page 68. The folded maps are available separately or together for a discounted price.

Regional Guides and Maps

Regional Geology Guides

This series provides an overview of the geology of the individual regions of the United Kingdom, as illustrated on the index map. In addition to explanatory text, they contain maps, diagrams, sections and photographs. These guides are suitable for informed amateurs, geology students and professionals alike.

Some titles are currently only available as as print-on-demand (POD) publications produced as A4 books bound in clear acetate covers: these are indicated by (POD) in the list.

Offshore Regional Reports

These reports describe the offshore geology of the United Kingdom and complement the Regional Geology Guides which cover the onshore areas. Offshore Regional Reports cover all aspects of the geology, from the most recently formed sediments to the deep structure of the crust, and include a chapter on economic geology. Some titles are currently only available as as print-on-demand (POD) publications produced as A4 books bound in clear acetate covers: these are indicated by (POD) in the list.

Classical Areas of British Geology Maps and Booklets

Classical Areas 1:25 000 scale Maps

For some areas of outstanding geological interest, which offer more detail than is shown on the 1:50 000 scale maps, we have published a series of maps at the larger 1:25 000 scale. For some areas, explanatory books are also available: associated books are indicated by '#' in the map list. The series number refers to the numbers on the index map. For a description of the various map classifications, please see the 1:50 000 scale map section. 'OP' indicates out of print titles.

Areas covered by 1:25 000 scale geological maps (Classical areas of British geology series)

1:50 000 Scale Geological Maps

Geological maps show the nature, extent and relative stratigraphical age of the different rocks within a district.

The 1:50 000 maps are the most widely-used of our geological map series: they offer comprehensive geological information for a wide range of purposes and at a well-understood scale. Map coverage is available for most UK land areas. These maps present the results of full geological surveys and incorporate information from subsurface or geophysical investigations which may be shown as diagrams on the maps.

The area coverage of these maps is shown overleaf, and in greater detail on the 'Index Map to 1:50 000 and 1:63 360 Geological Maps' (available free from Sales Desks). For England, Wales and Northern Ireland, map sheets normally cover an area 30 km east-west and 20 km north-south. In Scotland, sheets are often divided into East and West portions, each 20 km east-west and 30 km north-south (some older 'full' sheets also remain in-print).

'Special' geological sheets, often covering more than one standard map sheet, are produced for areas of major geological interest. Coastal geology maps show the geology of near-shore areas, usually together with the adjacent onshore geology. For these maps the bedrock and superficial formations occurring offshore are currently classified as Pre-Quaternary and Quaternary respectively.

Maps may be revised from time to time, hence the publication date may not always represent the original survey date(s) which, for some sheets, may be significantly earlier.

The 1:50 000 scale maps are normally produced as litho-printed, full-colour editions and in flat or folded-and-cased formats (subject to availability).

For some districts where modern maps are unavailable, digital reprints of previous editions may be produced to order: these normally cost £15 per sheet, but earlier 'Old Series' sheets are £30 each. All maps are produced as high permanence inkjet prints and are supplied as flat copies only.

Many 1:50 000 scale maps are available in geo-referenced digital formats for use within Geographical Information Systems.

We are re-issuing a number of folded modern 1:50k and 1 inch maps that are out of print are being re-issued. Achieved by hand folding and casing a map from the original litho print run into a digitally printed cover. These maps are £15 and are clearly marked with a logo as Reissue, hand folded and cased.

Additional Information

Geological Classifications and Map Versions

The 1:50 000 maps are often published in different versions, each showing particular attributes of the geology, though not all versions are produced for every district. The terms 'Solid' and 'Drift' refer principally to maps published before 2004.

Bedrock (B) – formerly 'Solid' – show the pre-Quaternary geology, as it would appear if the superficial deposits were removed. Boundaries of superficial deposits may be omitted or shown only by pecked lines.

Superficial Deposits (Sup) – formerly 'Drift' – show the Quaternary geology, usually unconsolidated deposits that include glacial and postglacial deposits; artificial deposits, such as landscaped, worked and made ground are also shown.

Bedrock & Superficial Deposits (B&Sup) – formerly 'Solid & Drift' – show the bedrock and superficial deposits with equal emphasis. These maps give the best picture of the 'underfoot' geology: geological boundaries and symbols for the surface outcrops of both bedrock and superficial deposits are shown, but details of bedrock geology are normally abridged. There is no new equivalent to the former 'Solid with Drift' (SwD) maps on which only abridged information is shown for the superficial deposits.

Superficial Deposits & Simplified Bedrock (Sup&SimpB) – For map sheets areas containing complex superficial deposits overlying complex bedrock, a Simplified Bedrock and Superficial Deposits versions may be published. On these maps, the Bedrock stratigraphy is shown simplified to Group or sub-Group level; individual geological formations are not generally shown. This is to allow clarity, maximum understanding and interpretation of the superficial deposits. Maps in this classification thus show bedrock simplified to a greater degree than shown on Bedrock & Superficial Deposits maps.

For some districts two versions of the geology may be portrayed as separate panels on the same map: these may be any of the versions described above. These 'combined maps' are indicated in the form (B, B&Sup) or (S,D), as appropriate.

England and Wales map coverage at 1:50 000 and 1:63 360 scale

(Coverage for Scotland and Northern Ireland on page 41)

357 & 360 In-print maps, showing the earlier classifications ('Solid', 'Drift', etc), will continue to be available until new maps, with the new classifications, are published to replace them. Out-of-print maps can often be reproduced as print-on-demand copies; contact the Sales Desk for prices and availability.

Other Editions

'One-inch-to-one-mile' scale maps (1:63 360) are still the current editions for some districts and are indicated in the list by the symbol '#' following the publication date.

'Provisional' editions may include substantial, but not complete, revision of the geology, and are indicated by [P].

'Facsimile' editions are 1:50 000 scale reprints of earlier 1:63 360 scale maps, and are indicated by 'F' after the facsimile date.

The availability of Geological Memoirs, Sheet Explanations or Sheet Descriptions produced to accompany geological maps is indicated by the symbol (M), (SE), or (SD) as appropriate.

Maps in this section are £12.00 each, with the exception of print-on-demand maps, and re-issued, which are £15.00 each. 'OP' indicates out of print titles.

1:50 000 Coastal Geology (England & Wales)

These maps show the geology of selected near-shore, estuarine or offshore areas, defined as Quaternary or pre-Quaternary strata and deposits. All maps include information on the onshore geology although for some areas this may only be an outline of the geology or simplified geology which is normally published on other 1:50 000 Series Geological Maps.

Geological Memoirs and Sheet Explanations

The BGS generally publishes a memoir for each of the 1:50 000 and the one-inch geological map sheets. Memoirs contain detailed geological information on the map sheet areas in the form of text, diagrams, sections, photographs and any available information or interpretation of the economic geology of the region.

Memoirs are suitable for the geology student or the professional. Some memoirs cover more than one sheet or are dedicated to a particular theme (for example, a mining region); these 'special memoirs' are included in the sheet listing where appropriate, are also listed at the end of the memoirs and are shown on the index map opposite.

'Sheet Explanations' and 'Sheet Descriptions' are gradually being introduced in place of memoirs. Sheet Explanations give a concise account of the geology of a geological sheet district, in the form of a printed A5 sized booklet: many are available in a pack with the accompanying 1:50 000 scale map at a discounted price. Sheet Descriptions contain additional, more detailed information and are produced as print-on-demand (POD) A4 documents, or on CD (contact the Sales Desk for details).

Some previously out-of-print Memoirs are now available as print-on-demand publications, which are normally reproduced to special order. These reprinted Memoirs provide interpretive geological information, but do not always refer to the current published 1:50 000 geological map. Hence, they do not normally provide the most up-to-date interpretation of the geology of an area. For further information on this service please contact the Sales Desk.

Memoirs, Sheet Explanations, Sheet Descriptions (and print-on-demand publications) are indicated, appropriately, in the following list by the letters M, (SE), (SD), and (POD) publication.

EPUBS

We are now offering the Sheet Explanation Series as a digital edition in ePub format for tablets and ipads. These editions are currently in progress and are expected to be a complete series in early 2015. They will be delivered via the BGS Document Delivery System (DDS) and can be sourced through the on-line shop. Further digital editions are planned to follow the Sheet Explanation Series. All EPUBS are priced at £10.80 (including VAT). ISBN's have not been quoted for these EPUBS so if you do order please specially ask for the EPUB version.

Print-on-demand publications can be produced either as printed and bound A4 documents, or digitally as PDF documents. Prices of paper and digital publications are the same, but VAT is applicable to digital versions.

1:250 000 Scale Geological Maps

Geological Maps of the UK and Continental Shelf Areas (UTM Series)

Maps in this series have normally been produced in three distinct editions: Solid (Bedrock) geology (S), Quaternary geology (Q) and Sea-bed sediments (Ss). Additionally, for some area Holocene deposits are shown in place of Quaternary deposits: the maps are indicated accordingly. Each version is normally produced as a separate map, although sea-bed sediments and Quaternary geology (or sea-bed sediments and solid geology), may be shown together on one printed map. Other data may be displayed in figurative form. The maps are available flat or folded.

The UTM Series (Universal Transverse Mercator projection) maps cover an area of 1deg. of latitude by 2deg. of longitude. Sheets are indexed by their south-west corner co-ordinates: coverage is shown in the index map.

Note: Quaternary geology maps provide information for offshore areas only: onshore territory is not covered unless otherwise noted.

Gravity and magnetic maps also based on the UTM grid (and at various scales) are listed in the Specialist Publications section of this catalogue.

Specialist Publications

Many books, reports and maps produced by the BGS fall into the 'specialist' category, that is, publications aimed at geologists, mining and civil engineers, planners and other professional users of detailed geoscience information and data.

This section of the catalogue is organised thematically; and includes large scale (greater than 1:25 000 scale) geological maps, geochemical, minerals, hydrogeological and geophysical maps, books and reports.

Large Scale Geological Maps

For over 150 years primary geological mapping has been undertaken at a large scale, normally 1:10 000 or the earlier 1:10 560 scale. There is almost complete large-scale map coverage of the UK, and some areas have multiple maps with a range of survey and publication dates. These maps have been prepared as Bedrock, or Bedrock geology and Superficial deposits versions (or the earlier Solid or Solid and Drift versions). 'Geologists' Standards' are derived from the field maps and are normally available for purchase as digitally produced print-on-demand copies.

National Grid maps: Primary geological survey mapping in rural areas is normally undertaken at the 1:10 000 scale (previously 1:10 560 scale) using National Grid quarter sheets. For all new surveys, maps are produced digitally and prints are produced on demand; earlier maps are produced from digitally scanned masters.

County Series maps: For much of Britain, including areas not recently surveyed, earlier large scale maps may be available based on the Ordnance Survey 6-inch (1:10 560) County Series maps. This Series was mostly published prior to c.1955, and in many cases they may date from the 19th century. Maps were produced either as 'full sheets' or as 'quarter sheets' and most do not show the National Grid. All maps are printed on demand from digitally scanned masters.

For information on the coverage of large scale maps, please visit www.geologyshop.com or call the Sales Desk on 0115 936 3241.

Regional Geochemical Atlases

These atlases provide a systematic picture of the geochemistry of the whole of Britain. The principal aims of this series are to identify new sources of metalliferous minerals, and to provide quantitative information on natural element levels which may be used to assess contamination.

In the first seven volumes the account of the regional geochemistry is based on the point-source data plotted on geological maps at a scale of 1:250 000. Subsequent volumes are in a new format and based on digital geochemical imagery. The point data has been gridded using the Interactive Surface Modelling package (ISM), to generate a smooth continuous surface which has then been processed to create colour-classified geochemical maps. Digital point-source data are still available if required: for further information contact the Sales Desk.

Geophysical Publications

The BGS publishes a wide range of geophysical information in the form of maps and reports. A small selection of printed maps are listed here. For information on the full range of publications contact the Sales Desk.

Gravity and magnetic anomaly maps illustrate small departures from the expected value of the Earth's gravity and magnetic field (anomalies) caused by variations in the density and magnetisation of rocks within the crust. They are used to determine the geological structure of the UK landmass and continental shelf on a regional scale, including the depth and extent of sedimentary basins for oil and gas exploration.

In addition to the published maps listed below, several gravity and magnetic anomaly maps (notably 1:250 000 scale UTM sheets, which complement the UTM Series Geology maps), are available to special order: please contact the Sales Desk for information.

Groundwater Vulnerability Maps

Northern Ireland (BGS)

These maps indicate areas where groundwater resources are vulnerable to pollution. They are designed to be used by planners, developers and regulatory bodies.

England and Wales (BGS & EA)

The Soil Survey and Land Research Centre (National Soil Resources Institute) and the BGS were commissioned by the Environment Agency to prepare groundwater vulnerability maps of England and Wales at a scale of 1:100 000. These maps identify areas in which groundwater resources require protection from potentially polluting activities. The maps are designed to be used by planners, developers, consultants and regulatory bodies to ensure that developments conform to the Environment Agency's Policy and Practice for the Protection of Groundwater.

These maps are based on data from the late 1980s early 1990s. More up-to-date digital data may now be available from the Environment Agency - for information contact your local EA office or the EA National Enquiry Service (08708 506506). Sheet numbers refer to the index map.

Small numbers of folded versions may also be available, including some for flat sheets which are out of print. Please contact the Sales Desk. For Groundwater Vulnerability in Scotland go to the SEPA website at www.sepa.org.uk

Applied Geology Mapping Reports

For land-use planning, various thematic maps have been produced to display the inter-relationships of environmentally significant factors such as topography, economic geology, hydrogeology and engineering geology. The scope of the reports varies with local conditions and the requirements of commissioning departments. The following printed reports and maps are available from stock: a full catalogue of reports and thematic maps is available on request.

Minerals Publications

There is an extensive range of minerals information on our website, including many publications which are available as free downloads. Please visit: www.mineralsUK.com

World Mineral Statistics

The BGS maintains one of the largest databases in the world on the production and trade of minerals. Information is compiled from a wide range of sources: home and overseas government departments, national statistical offices, specialist commodity authorities, company reports, and a network of contacts throughout the world. For more details, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldStatistics.html

World Mineral Production 2009–2013. A4 printed report. Order Code WMP2013. 9780852728482. £30

This comprehensive annual report contains production statistics, by country, for the majority of economically important mineral commodities, including ferrous and non-ferrous metals, industrial minerals and hydrocarbons, over a five year period. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldArchive.html

European Mineral Statistics 2008–2012. A4 printed version. Order Code WMS2013EUR. 9780852727591. £55 This annual publication contains production, export and import tables by individual country and by commodity, including summary information on the use and price of commodities. It covers the EU member states, applicants and associated countries. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/europeanStatistics.html New edition covering the period 2009–13 is due March 2015.

Mineral Information for the 'BRIC' Countries

The term 'BRIC', used to refer to the four countries of Brazil, Russia, India and China, has become almost synonymous with the rise of emerging economies in the global market. This report presents production and trade data for each of the four countries between 1999 and 2008, a synopsis of the main physiographic, geological and demographic features of each country. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldStatistics.html

African Mineral Production 2001–2005. A4 printed version. Order Code WMSAFR2001. 9780852725979. £15 This report gives production statistics for all African countries. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/ statistics/worldStatistics.html

China and SE Asia Mineral Production 2001–2005. A4 printed version. Order Code WMS03CSEA. 9780852725986. £15 This report provides mineral production statistics for China and other countries in south east Asia. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldStatistics.html

South American Mineral Production 1997–2006. A4 printed version. Order Code WMSSAMER06. £15 This report provides a 10-year series of mineral production for South American countries. To download a free copy, please go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldStatistics.html

World Mineral Statistics: A limited number of printed reports are still available for the predecessor publication to World Mineral Production. These publications, which ceased with the 1998-2002 edition, included production, exports and imports data for the same extensive range of mineral commodities. Contact the BGS Sales Desk for further information.

World Mineral Statistics Archive: The BGS, and its predecessor organisations, have compiled production and trade statistics on a wide range of mineral commodities since 1913. As part of an ongoing process to make this archive of important data more accessible to a wider audience, the BGS has scanned all of the publications from the World Mineral Statistics series and made them available to down-load from our website, data for years 1992–2012 are also available for download in MS Excel: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/worldArchive.html

United Kingdom Minerals

United Kingdom Minerals Yearbook 2012. A4 printed version. Order Code UKMY2012. 9786000009489. £25 An annual publication providing comprehensive statistical data on UK minerals production, consumption and trade to 2010 and estimates of production for major mineral commodities in 2012. To download a free copy of this latest edition go to: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/statistics/ukStatistics.html

Directory of Mines and Quarries 2014 Tenth Edition Order code DMQ2014 9780852727843. £25

This directory contains information on working mineral sites in the United Kingdom in 2014. Summary details of minerals produced or handled, geological formation worked, location and operator are provided. The British Geological Survey has been collecting site information about working mines, quarries, oil and gas wells and other mineral handing sites in the United Kingdom since its formation in 1835, and the current publication, the Directory of Mines and Quarries 10th Edition 2014, (DMQ), is still produced at regular intervals. The BGS can supply data on active mineral workings as either the printed Directory of Mines and Quarries or as digital database extracts in spreadsheet format. It can also supply the data in GIS formats as ARC Shapefiles. A digital index to the locations of all the currently active mineral workings can be viewed on the BGS website in the Geology section. Also downloadable free of charge from http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/mines/home.html

Summary of information on coal for land-use planning purposes. A4 printed version. Order Code CR/06/114N. £32

This report brings together data for the UK on coal production, trade, consumption and uses, and provides information on licensing and reserves. It also summarises information on opencast coal sites granted and refused planning permissions.

Aggregates supply in England: issues for planning

BGS has also published this Overview report on the management of aggregates supply in England, prepared by an independent consultant under the DCLG-BGS Joint Minerals Information Programme. The Overview summarises the main findings of the report on Managing Aggregates Supply in England: a review of the current system and future options. It also draws on essential messages from the other reports derived from the aggregates research carried out in 2007–8. This report is available as a free printed document (plus P&P): contact the Sales Desk. OR/08/059.

Mineral Resource Planning Maps and Reports

England

County Mineral Resource and Planning Constraint Maps have been prepared for various administrative areas in England under the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister's (ODPM) Research Project: Mineral Resource Information in Support of National, Regional and Local Planning. They are intended to assist all parties interested in the preparation and review of mineral development plans.

Four major elements of information are presented on digitally generated summary maps:

- the geological distribution of all mineral resources
- the location of mineral extraction sites
- the extent of mineral planning permissions and licences for coal extraction
- the extent of selected landscape and nature-conservation designations (National Parks, AONBs, SSSIs, NNRs, SACs, SPAs and scheduled monuments)

A primary objective is to produce baseline data in a consistent form which can be updated, revised and customised to suit planning needs, including Mineral Local Plans and Minerals Local Development documents and Regional Spatial Strategies, together with SEAs and E1As, and for the minerals industry. The data are held digitally, enabling easy revision and customisation using a GIS, including the presentation of subsets of the data at larger scales. Scotland

In 2007 the BGS co-funded a project with the Scottish Executive to provide a comprehensive, relevant and accessible information base to enhance the sustainability of mineral resources for 18 local authorities in the central belt of Scotland. A report and 4 digitally generated maps at 1:100 000 scale are available as downloads from: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/planning/resource.html#scotland

Mineral Reconnaissance Reports

These series of reports provides information and maps related to the exploration and development of Britain's mineral resources. They were produced under the Minerals Reconnaissance Programme, funded by the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) between 1972 and 1997. The reports contain the results of reconnaissance and follow-up mineral exploration surveys, new evidence of mineralisation in Britain, and recommendations for further work. Over the next few months these reports will become available as free downloads from our website: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/exploration/potential/mrp.html

Printed copies of many of these reports are available: contact the Sales Desk for further information.

Minerals Programme Reports

This series comprises publications of the DTI-funded Minerals Programme (1998–2004). It covers a wide range of topics, including an exploration guide to Britain and assessments of the mineral potential of various districts.

Exploration for metalliferous and related minerals in Britain: a guide (2nd edition). Order Code MPP001. 9780852723579. £20 This publication provides comprehensive information to assist all those interested in exploring for, and developing, metalliferous and related minerals in Britain. It is also available as a free download at: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/mineralsuk/exploration/guide.html

Mineral Assessment Reports (bulk mineral resources)

These reports are concerned with the assessment of bulk mineral resources of areas within the UK. They provide information on hard rock aggregates, limestone, conglomerate, and sand and gravel deposits. A full list of reports is available on request from the Sales Desk.

Other Minerals Information

www.mineralsUK.com

The www.mineralsUK.com website is produced and maintained by staff in the Minerals and Waste Science area of the British Geological Survey. It was launched in 1999 to provide information about mineral exploration, mining, production and trade. Since then the scope of the website has been broadened and now includes content on a wider range of issues such as resources, sustainable development, planning guidance and UK policy and legislation. www.mineralsUK. com

A large selection of products is available for free download. These include a wide range of technical reports, Mineral Profiles, Mineral Planning Factsheets and a series of short leaflets (Mineral Matters) that provide an overview of many minerals-related issues for a non-specialist audience. New downloads are continually being added to the website.

The Mineral Profile series presents essential background information on individual mineral commodities for the non-specialist user. They are not intended to be highly technical but contain sufficient detail to enable the reader to gain a broad understanding of the particular mineral described. Recent additions to the series include: Coal, Cobalt, Copper, Nickel, Platinum-Group Elements; Rare Earth Elements and Uranium.

The Mineral Planning Factsheets cover economically important minerals that are extracted in Britain. They are regularly updated and provide an overview of the supply of a specific mineral. They are primarily intended to inform the land-use planning process but will be of much wider interest. Factsheets are currently available for 23 mineral commodities.

Book

Rocks and fossils of the Falkland Islands. Stone, P, Aldiss, D and Edwards, E. 2005. 0852724942. £9

The Falkland Islands have a remarkable geological history: African origins going back 1000 million years, a 400 million-year-old shoreline teeming with marine life, and ice age 300 million years ago succeeded by the spread of forests, and emigration to the New World as the Atlantic Ocean opened a mere 150 million years ago — with rotation so that north became south in the process. This colourful account illustrates the rocks and fossils, shows how their features reveal the details of those ancient environments, and explains how more recent climate changes has wrought the rocks into the unique Falkland landscape.

Commission on the Geological Map of the World

The BGS Acts as an agent on behalf of the Commission on the Geological Map of the World (CGMW), selling a selection of the small scale maps produced by the Commission. These maps complement the larger scale maps produced by national surveys. For more information, see http://ccgm.free.fr

Geological map of the World World geological map, at 1:50 000 000 scale, covering two themes over two map sheets. Geological Map of the World 3rd revised edition, 2014. Flat only, one sheet 118 x 98 cm ISBN 9786000009595, 1:35 000 000. The layout of this new version, centered on the Atlantic, was redesigned in order to fit a single sheet, while the legibility was improved in relation to the reduced version at 1:50 000 000 £25

Lithological map of the World, 2015. Flat only, one sheet 118 x 80 cm ISBN 9782917310250, 1:35 000 000 1st edition. Lithology describes the physical, geochemical and mineralogical characteristics of rocks. It affects much of Earth's surface processes such as fluxes of matter to soils, ecosystems, rivers, and oceans £14

Sheet 1: Physiography, volcanoes, astroblemes – Pacific-centred. 2009. Flat only. Order Code 600000639X £9

International geological map of Africa. 1990. Order Code WIGMA £50

This atlas comprises 6 sheets of which one is the General Legend: each of the 5 geological sheets includes its own local legend. The offshore surrounding areas are mapped with bathymetry, magnetic anomalies and age of the oceanic crust, fracture zones, thickness of the overlying sedimentary cover, earthquake epicentres and location of DSDP boreholes. May be assembled to form a mural map. Bilingual: English/French. A CGMW/UNESCO co-publication, with the financial support of BRGM. Size of each map sheet: 94 × 92 cm: legend: 94 cm × 72 cm. Scale: 1:5 000 000.

The changing face of the Earth: the break-up of Pangaea and continental drift over the past 250 million years in ten steps. Paperback with CD ROM. 2003. ISBN 9231039008 £10.50

Geological time scale 2008. 3rd edition. 2008. Folded only. Order Code: 6000005474. £3.50

Plate tectonics from Space. 2006. Folded: Order Code 600000236. Flat: Order Code 6000004087 £8.50

Satellite measurements of surface motions of Earth's lithospheric plates are accumulating fast, and a spectacular image of horizontal crustal deformation is emerging, solving plate kinematics enigma here and there and raising new questions elsewhere. The objective of this map is to show the current plate tectonics framework in the light of these new satellite measurements, superimposed onto a physiographic basemap obtained also from space techniques. 1 sheet. Scale: 1:50 000 000.

1:5 000 000 International geological map of Europe and adjacent areas. 2005. Folded only. Order Code CGMWEUR. £14 This new edition extends further to the north and the west covering a large part of the North Atlantic, Greenland, and the European Arctic continental shelf (Barents Sea), as well as the West Siberian shelf (Kara Sea). To the south, the mapped areas stretch from the Canaries Islands and southern Morocco to the far end of the Persian Gulf. An important innovation is the inclusion of the geological mapping information of the offshore areas, which represent around 60% of the map surface. The map has been generated digitally and is underpinned by a fully geoscientific spatial database. Scale: 1:5 000 000. Lambert conform conic projection. Total surface of the map 167 x 127 cm.

1:10 000 000 International geological map of Europe and adjacent areas. 2005. Flat only. Order Code CGMWR. £14 reduced scale version of the 1:5 000 000 map. (65 x 85 cm).

Seismotectonic Maps

World stress map. 2009. Flat only. Order Code CGMWWS2. £13.00

Shows 'the tectonic regime and the orientation of the contemporary maximum horizontal compressional stress at more than 12000 locations within the Earth's crust'. Scale: 1:46 000 000 plus CD. Size: 120×54 cm.

Seismotectonic map of the Middle East. Flat only. Order Code WSMME. £20 This map covers a seismically highly active region. 1013 major historical earthquakes are plotted, ranging from the 3rd millennium BC to 1900 AD, as well as 3029 teleseismic events of the 20th century, with a magnitude of 5 and over: their magnitude and focal depth are indicated. Geological Survey of Iran/CGMW co-publication.1 sheet, in English. Scale: 1:5 000 000. 1992. Size: 96.5 × 76.5 cm.

Metamorphic Maps

Metamorphic map of South and East Asia. Flat only. Order Code WMSEA. £8.50 1 sheet, with separate explanatory notes. CGMW publication in English. Scale: 1:10 000 000. 1984. Size: 105 x 78 cm.

Mineral & Metallogenic Maps

Metallogenic Map of South America. Folded only. Order Code 6000005458. £35

This map is published by the Geological and Mining Survey of Argentina, under the aegis of CGMW and the Ibero-American Association of Geological and Mining Surveys (ASGMI). It covers an area of about 18 million km² and depicts the main characteristics of 1500 metallic and industrial mineral deposits located in their tectonostratigraphic context. The map was based on the GIS of the Geological Map of South America (2001) the geological formations of which were reclassified and aggregated in order to define tectonogratigraphic and metallogenic units.

Comprises 4 folded sheets plus separate explanatory notes (trilingual: English/ Spanish/Portuguese). Scale: 1:5 000 000. 2nd edition, 2005. Size of each sheet: 89 × 66 cm.

Metallogenic Map of South and East Asia. Flat only. Order Code WMMSEA. £40

A CGMW/UNESCO co-publication in English.This map shows the major oredeposits, their geological environment, the type of deposits, the age and the size of mineralisation. Comprises 4 sheets plus 1 legend sheet. Scale: 1:5 000 000. 1985. Size of each sheet: 108 × 77 cm.

International Metallogenic Map of Africa. Order Code WIMMA. £42 This 4-sheet map is based on the International Geological Map of Africa at 1:5 000 000, produced in 1985–1990, up-dated where applicable. Mineral deposit data (location, name of the more important deposits, commodities present, status, shape or type of deposit, orientation, and size) are portrayed against a background depicting the chronostratigraphic succession of sedimentary and volcanic sequences and intrusive magmatic bodies, the geotectonic setting of orogenic domains, or genetic host rock environment, and distinguishing the lithology of magmatic and metamorphic rocks. Mineral deposits are numbered and referenced according to a 5° latitude × 5° longitude grid. Dual French/English Legend.

Comprises a wall map supplied as 4 sheets covering the African continent, Madagascar and other islands, parts of the Arabian Peninsula, parts of southern Europe and Legend. CGMW/Council for Geoscience co-publication.

Scale: 1:5 000 000 Transverse Mercator Projection. 2002. Overall size when mounted 172 x 222 cm.

International Geological Maps

Some maps produced as part of the Survey's participation in geological work abroad (normally outside Europe and North America) are available for sale. The countries and major themes are indicated in the following list. Coverage of each country or region may only be partial and maps may cover several themes. Details of individual maps, series, prices and availability may be obtained from the Sales Desk

Copyright of BGS Maps, Publications and other Materials

About BGS Copyright

The copyright of materials derived from the British Geological Survey's work is vested in the Natural Environment Research Council (NERC). Subject to the general permissions granted below, no part of this work may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, or stored in a retrieval system of any nature, without the prior written permission of the copyright holder, which permission the BGS' Head, Intellectual Property Rights is empowered to give on behalf of NERC.

BGS is the successor department to the Institute of Geological Sciences (IGS), for both of whom copyright for maps and other publications is vested in NERC. Copyright of former IGS materials still rests with NERC (BGS), and may not be copied or supplied to third parties without BGS' express consent.

Permission to reproduce BGS materials for non-commercial use

The BGS encourages the use of its materials in promoting geological and environmental sciences. Subject to compliance with any other stated terms and conditions of use related to specific content, BGS gives non-exclusive permission to reproduce free of charge:

- any BGS figures, sketches, illustrationsⁱ, diagrams, map extracts and cross-sections appearing on the BGS website (but excluding any BGS-hosted websites); and/or
- any BGS figures, sketches, illustrations, diagrams, map extracts and cross-sections from any BGS published academic papers, books, reports, guides or mapsⁱⁱ
- for personal, academic, educational, non-commercial research or other non-commercial uses and subject to appropriate acknowledgement.
- Further details are available at: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/data/licensing/home.html

Acknowledgements

Where BGS copyright material is being used, the following acknowledgement must accompany the reproduced BGS material: 'Reproduced with the permission of the British Geological Survey [®] NERC. All rights Reserved'. Where figures, sketches, illustrations, diagrams, map extracts or cross-sections are used as the basis of specifically generated illustrations, the source of he material should be cited as follows: 'Based upon [source details], with the permission of the British Geological Survey'.

Reproduction of any BGS materials does not amount to an endorsement by NERC or any of its employees of any product or service and no such endorsement should be stated or implied.

Reproduction of BGS materials for commercial purposes

No part of any BGS content may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, or stored in a retrieval system of any nature, for commercial purposes, without the prior written permission of the copyright holder – in this case BGS/NERC. Permission to reproduce such material can be granted by the BGS IPR Section (ipr@bgs.ac.uk) via specific copyright arrangements relating to individual permissions and/or copyright licences.

Important points to note:

- Use of any materials supplied by the British Geological Survey (BGS) is at your own risk. Neither BGS nor NERC gives any warranty, condition or representation as to the quality, accuracy or completeness of the information or its suitability for any use or purpose. All implied conditions relating to the quality or suitability of the information, and all liabilities arising from the supply of the information (including any liability arising in negligence) are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.
- BGS maps may include topography licensed from the Ordnance Survey www.ordnancesurvey.co.uk (users who do not have an Ordnance Survey licence to reproduce the topography must make their own arrangements with the Ordnance survey) or Harper Collins Publishers Limited https://collins.co.uk/category/Reference/Atlases/, which must be acknowledged when reproduced, as follows: 'Topographic base map® HarperCollins Publishers Ltd [year]'. An OS licence/permission does not authorise the reproduction of BGS maps. Likewise, a BGS licence/permission does not authorise the reproduction of OS material.
- No BGS photographs, whether appearing on this website, or in any BGS publication, may be reproduced for any purpose without the prior written permission of the BGS IPR Section (ipr@bgs.ac.uk), unless the images are identified by BGS as being free to use for commercial or non-commercial use without permission.

Obtaining permission – Digital materials

If BGS copyright protected maps and other graphical materials are required for use in electronic/digitised form, potential users will need to hold an appropriate BGS Digital Licence, prior to the BGS digital materials being released to the licensee. Permission must also be obtained from the Ordnance Survey to reproduce and use digital copies of their material.

Where some users have proceeded with their own digitisation of BGS' maps, they may unwittingly or otherwise be in breach of NERC copyright. BGS reserves the right to take appropriate action where breaches of copyright are identified.

We strongly recommend that potential users refer to BGS for further advice regarding copyright permission for the use of BGS materials in electronic/digital form.

BGS is keen to promote business with commercial organisations, institutions, individuals, and educational concerns, which wish to produce and/or publish services and/or products based on BGS materials. In all cases the granting of permission will depend upon the anticipated effect of the proposed usage on the promotion, sales and associated marketing activities involved with BGS' hard copy and digital materials. BGS is a member of the Information Fair Trader Scheme and treats all customers with fairness.

Contact details:

Potential users of BGS materials may discuss their requirements and make subsequent application for a permit or license by contacting the Intellectual Property Rights Section, British Geological Survey, Environmental Science Centre, Keyworth, Nottingham, NG12 5GG, United Kingdom.

General Sales Information

Our Guarantee on Books, Maps and Reports

We endeavour to ensure that the goods you order will be delivered promptly and at a reasonable cost. Our Sales team will be happy to help if you have queries or difficulties with any part of your order or delivery. We will deal fairly with all customers; please let us know if, or how, we can improve our products and services. Contact details are given inside the front cover.

Some printed publications are only stocked in small quantities and stocks are continually changing. If items that you order are out of stock we will inform you and offer an alternative item, or a full refund. We cannot guarantee to re-stock items that sell out.

You have the right to cancel your mail order purchase at any time prior to dispatch. Also, you may return unwanted goods in their original condition and at your cost within 10 days of receipt, and without any need to give a reason. We will refund the purchase price, but not the original postage costs. When returning goods please ensure that a copy of the delivery note or receipt is enclosed.

If any item is faulty or supplied in error, or if there are any other problems, please tell us immediately: we will provide a replacement, offer you an alternative, or give a full refund including postage costs. If the goods you receive have been damaged in transit please retain all items and packaging and contact us immediately: we will make arrangement for replacements and the return (if needed) of the damaged goods at our cost.

Arrangements for special 'Made-to-Order' items are slightly different: these are items that are produced individually on request. They include photocopies, 'print-on-demand' paper copies, individually scanned-on-request documents, digital downloads and other digital information (including .pdf files), which are offered as a 'bespoke products' to customers. Such orders may be cancelled within seven days of placing the order. If work on producing the 'Made-to-Order' items has not started there will be no charge, otherwise a charge not exceeding 25% of the original value, may be made for cancellations and for unwanted items that are returned. Production and delivery times for such items cannot be guaranteed; however, they are usually dispatched within seven working days of an order being placed. Please check that 'Made-to-Order' items (especially maps) are correctly specified and are suitable for your purposes.

Your statutory rights are unaffected.

Digital data are covered by separate arrangements depending on the nature of the data supplied; for further details please see: http://www.bgs.ac.uk/about/copyright/

BGS Online Shop

Almost all of the major BGS publications are available from the BGS Online Shop (www.geologyshop.com). This features a searchable list of all products with the exception of some specialist and technical publications. New product ranges are continually being added and it is constantly revised to provide up-to-the minute information on the current availability of publications.

Terms and Conditions of Sale

Our terms and conditions of sale are published on the BGS web site: (www.geologyshop.com). Copies may be obtained from the Sales Desk on request.

We recommend always using the ISBN or the Order Code (indicated in the listings) when ordering publications, or enquiring about them.

Prices and Value Added Tax

Prices in this catalogue are correct at the time of going to print and are subject to change at any time thereafter: advanced notice of price increases will be published on the BGS web pages (www.geologyshop.com).

Prices are inclusive of Value Added Tax (VAT) where applicable. EU customers will be charged VAT at the current UK rate unless a valid EU VAT Reference Number is provided. Items delivered to addresses outside the EU are normally exempt from VAT.

Where VAT is chargeable it is also applicable to postage and packaging charges.

The current UK VAT rate is 20%.

How to Order

British Geological Survey publications can be bought by mail order from our Sales Desks (details below), online from our Online Shop and from good booksellers; a list of stockists is given at the end of the catalogue. Payment may be made using most credit and debit cards, but we do not accept charge cards or cheques.

Prices in this catalogue do not include postage. Normal postal charges are based on order value. Postage charges are indicated below.

Postage and Packing - based on order value

UK (including Isle of Man and Channel Islands)

10% of total order value, with a minimum charge of £2.50 and a maximum charge of £10

Europe

20% of total order value, with a minimum charge of £7 and a maximum charge of £25

Rest of the world

30% of total order value, with a minimum charge of £12, no maximum charge.

Gold Star Service

For UK customers requiring special or urgent delivery of printed publications we provide a 'Gold Star Service'. Orders received by midday are dispatched the same day via a guaranteed next working day service. Working days are normally Monday to Friday (excl. public holidays). Costs will be refunded if items are delivered late. This service is available for the UK mainland, the Isle of Wight and Anglesey, but excludes the Scottish Highlands. We cannot deliver to PO Boxes. The total cost is £20 plus VAT. Contact us for further information. (Not available for Online Shop orders).
